

Full Moon

Author: twilightlol

Renesmee ever so cute with her brownish ringlet hair that hung to her back now was extra shiny in the sun as we walked to the meadow the only vampires in sight outside of the house. Emmett and Rosalie were off in Africa for they're honeymoon and the rest of the family including Edward and Bella, Esme and Carlisle, and Jasper were all inside. Talking to Charlie who is Bella's father the only one that was human in that house was Charlie the rest of us were vampires.

" Aunt Alice, I don't like animal blood."

She complained in a high soprano. " I know but, your father really wants you to have the vegetarian diet as the rest of us have gone by for the last hundreds of years." I comforted her as i always do.

"Can you carry me, Alice?" she asked her beautiful face tired.

"Of course Renesmee" i held out my arms the same time she jumped in them. She put her small and very hot hand on my cheek "I want human blood" she thought lightly. Her gift was brilliant if she put her hand on your skin you saw what she has lived through and the best part is that she can pick whatever she wanted to show you.

"No", i said simply

As i was speaking a herd of deer ran past us totally oblivious to the sparkle that radiated off my skin and the faint glow that came off hers. She jumped out of my arms and landed lightly on her feet. She smiled and ran after the herd of deer I ran after the herd of deer and Renesmee as I caught up with her she had taken down two deer for her and myself. The blood felt nice and hot on my throat. When we were done we ran back to the house. Jasper always smiling to see me wags standing outside now. "

Charlie has left now and Jacob is on his way down here to see Renesmee"

Ugh i hate that vile Jacob Black the most repulsive werewolf but he was Renesmee's favorite person because he imprinted on her it was like love at first sight but stronger. " ugh i hate him"

Renesmee looked up at me puzzled " why dont you like him Alice"

But before I could reply he was there picking her up i growled a long and scary snarl. I ran to Bella who was standing there smiling at Edward her husband " I love you" she murmured to him softly."As i love you i hope" he responded they were such a happy couple. I decided to go over and talk to Jasper " How was the visit from Charlie?" I asked very softly.

" Very well actually i didnt have to calm Bella down like i usually do" he smiled " come walk with me"

Hand in hand we walked around the small meadow watching the sunset i thought about how perfect our life is and we all can live for the next eons and eons Because we were vampires.
