

The Hardy Boys A New Ending

Author: Jake Hayford

2 hours after they captured Musslmen and his men, the Hardy boys went back to Bayport, but when they got home something wasn't right. There was no greeting from their aunt or their mother. Frank and Joe investigated until they found a warning note in the kitchen, "Hardy's we have your mother and aunt if you even try going to the police we will dispose of them now." "What will we do?" Joe said. We are going after them but Frank we don't know where to begin the search. I do said Frank, remember that beach we went to last summer it had a cave. Jumpin' Jimmini! They may be in there. We will call our friends to help us. Okay Joe, let's get started. Two days later after the kidnapping of their family, they arrived at the cave near the beach. Ok boys here's the plan. Frank and I will go in first, then 2 minutes later the rest of you go in ready to charge. What is that, said Musslmen? Nothing, must be your imagination. It was then that they heard the war cry's of the young boys. Dang! They found us. Frank and Joe called for help and soon the bad guys were overwhelmed. I surrender said Musslmen. "Where is our family?" Frank said. "In the back of the cave." Musselman said. Frank and Joe rushed to the back of the cave and found their family. "Are you all right mom and aunt Gertrude?" "Yes we are. Thanks for saving us. Then the police arrived and congratulated the boys for their good work. "Thanks chief Collig!" The boys brought their family home safely.

Publication Date: March 25th 2010